MUCH INTEREST IN SCHOOL MEETING

MONDAY EVENING, JULY 8 TIME SET

There seems to be a lot of interest in the coming annual school meeting that will occur on July 8th at the High school assembly room.

At that time the usual reading of items of receipts and expenditures will be had and offered for approval. Also the budget for next year's expenses will be recommended and adopted.

The members whose terms expire at this time are M. A. Bates and H. A. Bauman, each of whom have served about thirty years on the school board.

While it was understood by some that this year would see the final payments on the school bonds fully retired, Secretary Bates says that there are still $3,000 in bonds standing out. These will be due in May of next year. However the money is already on hand with which to pay them. In fact the board has $7,000 on deposit drawing 4% interest which was set aside for payment of the bonds. Secretary Bates says that he estimates that about $25,000 will be requested for school purposes for next year.

The following improvements will be requested of the Board for consumption during the present vacation period:

All windows repaired and new sash where required.

Cornice and all exposed portions of woodwork painted two coats.

All interior walls and halls redecorated except those that have been cared for during the past year.

Hydraulic pump for compressed air to be replaced by electric motor.

Compressed air tank to be removed to engine room to prevent freezing.

Power for operating fan to be replaced by electric motor in place of oil burning engine.

Install electric pump to serve bubbling fountains. This to be separate from fan operation.

Cut door from gym to excavated room on right of gym and finish this room and equip for dressing room.

Cover steps and corridors with battleship linoleum; nose steps with metal and cover floor of assembly room with linoleum if not too expensive.

These questions no doubt will be acted upon by the board before the school meeting.

It will be interesting to know that Mr. Bates and Mr. Bauman, whose terms as members of the school board will expire this year and who will probably be candidates for reelection, have served the board about 30 years. They served thru the years of building the new school house and have given the people a lot of valuable service. Members of the school board receive the princely sum of $25 per year and the secretary receives $400 per year for his services. The other members of the board are comparatively young in the service although they are very able and willing to be of service to their community. Dr. Keyport is the president; the others are Emil Kraus and T. P. Peterson.

Don't forget that the annual school meeting will be held Monday evening, July 8th. Let's have the biggest turnout in the history of the school. That's what the board likes and what makes everyone better satisfied with the actions of the meeting.

Loyalty Sunday

10:30 a. m. Dr. Julian West of Gaylord will preach. Dr. West needs no introduction to a Grayling congregation.

Theme: "Loyalty to the Nation's Ideals."

America's civilization is threatened by an insidious foe within our borders who, in the words of Hoover, think that "laws are made for those who choose to obey them."

The Church has always been the custodian of America's ideals. She must lead in the movement to outlaw the law-breakers.

7:30 p. m. "The Land which the Lord, our God hath given us." A loyal Sunday address by the pastor of the church.

The Message of the Great Business Magnates (in part)

HAVING FINE TIMES AT PLAYGROUNDS

ATTENDANCE LARGE. ORGANIZE BALL TEAMS

A big time is in store for the younger boys and girls who attend the municipal playgrounds at the Conner's tourist park, supervised by J. Vere Cushman. The attendance Monday was 87 boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 15 years.

A regular schedule for games has been worked out and is meeting with wonderful success. Also four indoor baseball teams have been organized and already there is a lot of rivalry.

The teams play under the following names: Yankees, captain, Emil Kraus Jr.; Giants, captain, Don Gottho Jr.; Tigers, captain, Alfred DeFrain; and the Rinkydinks, captain, Kenneth Gottho. As a prize Coach Cushman has promised the team that has the highest percentage at the end of this week a whopping big watermelon.

Oh boy! The standings of the teams up to Wednesday are as follows:

Teams	W	L	Pct.
Yankees	1	0	1.00
Rinkydinks	1	0	1.00
Tigers	0	1	0.00
Giants	0	1	0.00

Monday's games:

Yankees	26
Giants	9

Umpire: Schmidt.

Rinkydinks	30
Tigers	22

Umpire: Sheehy.

The officers of the league are Kenneth Gottho, president; Emil Kraus Jr., vice president; William Fairbotham, secretary.

But while these ball games are a big thing, still there is plenty of well regulated and supervised play and swimming periods for all children. Mr. Cushman wishes "it understood that all children are welcome whether they reside in Grayling or not. All county children are cordially invited. Open every week day.

CADILLAC ALL SET FOR HOMECOMING

Cadillac, June 25.—Indians, French explorers, woodsmen, early pioneers and modern residents will all be portrayed at the First Northern Michigan historical pageant to be presented here July 4, 5 and 6, in connection with the celebration of the Fourth of July and a three-day homecoming.

The festivities will begin with an all-day observance of Independence Day on July 4. On the program will be found all the familiar methods of celebrating the day, besides many novel new stunts and entertainment features. One of the largest exhibitions of fireworks ever seen in this section will be fired under the supervision of a factory expert. As the state law forbids private displays this year these will be the only fireworks seen here.

Climaxing the day will be the first exhibition of the historical pageant. This will be presented in front of the grandstand on the Fair Grounds before a stage setting 200 feet long. There will be 500 persons in the cast, all elaborately and appropriately costumed according to the period represented.

The pageant, in a series of episodes, will show the progress of the Cadillac region from the time of the Indian to the present day. There will be several gorgeous spectacles and massed tableaux and no feature of the history of the section will be omitted.

All of Northern Michigan is invited to attend the mammoth display and it is especially desired that the children see the pageant which will be an educational feature of great value.

The pageant will be repeated on July 5th and 6th.

CAUSES ARREST OF CARETAKER

JUSTICE AFTER HEARING THE EVIDENCE DISMISSES CASE

Bert Hiar, an inmate at the county infirmary, secured a warrant charging Bert Chappel, the superintendent, with slander. The warrant was issued on authority of the prosecuting attorney and the case was brot before Justice Hans Petersen for hearing.

It was claimed by Hiar that Superintendent Chappel accused him of being drunk and wished him punished. Prosecuting Attorney Nellist prosecuted the case. Mr. Chappel laid the matter before Emil Kraus, one of the members of the county poor commission and Philip G. Zalsman, a justice of the peace, who represented him at the hearing.

Mr. Chappel, the defendant, stated that Mr. Hiar did come home in an intoxicated condition and that he had to assist him to his room (at the infirmary). And also stated that he, in accordance with the rules of the infirmary, reported the affair to Mr. Kraus and Carl Jensen, members of the poor commission, and that he did not report it to others. Mr. Kraus maintained that that was in accordance with Mr. Chappel's responsibility and requirements as superintendent.

Mr. Hiar is a TB patient and an inmate of the infirmary and according with some reports that have been current has not been very agreeable to deal with. Justice Petersen dismissed the case and was very indignant about it ever having come up.

There are a number of inmates at the infirmary and it seems that all get along nicely with the exception of Hiar. Just why Hiar persists in making trouble seems hard to understand. We have heard nothing but good reports for the way the Chappells have conducted the institution. There may be times when strict measures have to be applied in order to maintain proper discipline but it appears that most of the inmates have only a feeling of gratitude for the care that is being given them.

If Hiar is bound to make trouble for the management it will only mean that sooner or later he will either have to get out or be locked up. Already there is a warrant out charging Hiar with profane, infame and abusive language used against and in the presence of Mrs. Chappel. If found guilty he no doubt will be locked up in jail. Nobody wants to persecute Hiar but he can't expect that he can impose on people or be abusive without in time getting the worst of it.

First Sawmill in 1844

The first commercial sawmills were built in Oregon in 1844, and on Puget sound in 1845. By 1885 there were over 228 mills in Oregon alone, says the American Tree association. They cost more than a million and a half dollars and were producing annually a product worth more than two millions.

Willis Moore, a linotype operator on the Sturgis Daily Journal, Sturgis, Michigan, with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shannon of Detroit, are spending the week here resorting at Lake Margrethe, occupying the Gilson cottage. This is Mr. Moore's first trip as far north as this and he says he thinks the scenery is wonderful.

On Friday, July 5th, the Ladies Aid society of Michelson Memorial church will meet with Mrs. Oscar Hanson at her summer home at Lake Margrethe, for a pot luck luncheon at one o'clock. Everyone come and bring a well filled basket. Those wishing a ride please call Mrs. Harold Jarmin.

Mrs. E. J. Olson, Sec'y.
Hans Petersen's cottage at Lake Margrethe is a lively place this week as the graduating class of the Grand Blanc High School, consisting of 26 members is making things hum with excitement. Miss Joy Olson, a granddaughter of Mr. Petersen, is a member of the class, and her mother, Mrs. Lena Olson, Mrs. James Dunn and Miss Reynolds, all of Grand Blanc are chaperoning the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Smith of Cleveland, Ohio were pleasant callers at the Avalanche office Friday last. They had been enjoying a number of days recreating at the electric power dam where they say the fish are good. Mr. Smith is one of the staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer. This was their first visit to these parts and they have found out that there are any number of wonderful places here for outing camps, where not only the fishing is good but that afford the best of bathing beaches. We hope they will come again and will take time to visit some of the other places in this region that leave memories enduring and pleasant.

Lovells had some distinguished guests over the week end when Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Nash of Racine, Wisconsin, were guests of their daughter Mrs. DeGulchard, who is at the Nash summer home there. Mr. Nash during his stay here enjoyed an all-day fishing trip. Monday forenoon he fished for bass at K.P. lake and in the afternoon in company with the local Nash agent T. E. Douglas, Carl Mickelson and Oscar Hanson went down to Sunrise club to fish for trout. The party fished until 12:00 o'clock in the night and Mr. Nash was reluctant to quit even then. It is five years since Mr. Nash, president of the Nash Motors has visited this section, and had such a pleasant time that he said he was coming back again for a longer stay later in the season.

(By E. M. T. Service)
Many interesting letters are received at the office of the East Michigan Tourist association from persons making inquiry regarding vacations in this section. These frequently result in very pleasing contacts. After giving information to one gentleman in St. Louis who had an unfortunate experience in another state when looking for accommodations last year, the gentleman wrote thanking E.M.T. for its service and stated that he had received so much literature lauding the virtues of some 12 to 15 resorts that it will take a directors meeting to decide definitely which place to visit.

BETTER FIGHT FOREST FIRES WHEN REQUESTED

The Cadillac chapter of the Isaac Walton League of America reports that one of their members, a special conservation officer, discovered a brush fire in Wexford county and, while employing every facility at hand to hold this fire in check, realized that it was beyond his control. He then called upon two fishing parties, both of which refused to help. The report further says that others appeared on the scene and joined in fighting the fire. By this time the fire had become too much for the entire party and the conservation officer left to call in the aid of the nearest state fire fighting unit. The fire tower at Mesick said that the smoke had been sighted and that a truck was on the way.

For the information and guidance of those of the fishing parties who refused to lend their aid in subduing this fire, and for others who may be similarly inclined in the future, the following extract taken from the Michigan forest fire law is quoted: Sec. 5, "and each deputy game, fish and forest warden and assistant fire wardens shall have authority to call to his assistance in emergencies any able-bodied male person over eighteen years of age who shall be paid for his services at the rate of three dollars per day and this same rate for parts of days, and if such person refuses, without reasonable justification or excuse, to assist, or if any fire warden refuses or neglects to perform the duties assigned him in this act, such officer or person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed three months."

CHECKING UP ON TROUT

The fishermen of Michigan are lending valuable aid to the study of the growth and migrations of the brook, brown, and rainbow trout by mailing to Jan Metzelaar, Biologist of the fish division, the tags and data on tagged trout taken this season. Accurate data is obtained by comparing the information furnished by the fishermen with the records of the department which show the date, locality, and length of the fish when tagged. It can be readily seen that the success of this work depends largely upon the fisherman in supplying to Dr. Metzelaar accurate information concerning the location where the fish was taken, the date, and its exact length.

The trout fisherman need never be in doubt as to how to proceed in this work. On the back of each license will be found the following statement: "The department of conservation has distributed several thousand trout, marked with metal tags. If you catch a tagged trout, please detach the tag and mail it to Dr. Jan Metzelaar, Ann Arbor, Michigan, stating length of trout, date and locality of capture, as accurately as possible. In this way we will be enabled to check up on the growth and migrations of our trout and the general results of our plantings. Tags will be returned to sportsmen if desired."

NAVY GETS 25 NEW BOMBING PLANES

It is learned by the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, that a contract for 25 bombing planes with spare parts and handling gears, was awarded June 1 by the Navy Department to the Glenn H. Martin Co., of Baltimore. The contract also includes an option on an additional five planes of the same type with 25% spare parts. It is stated that the planes were contracted for under the terms of the five year naval aircraft programme, which calls for 1,000 planes by 1932.

WHAT IS A BAD BOY?

Alpena has learned how to deal with the boy problem. Once upon a time Alpena, like many other towns of its size, worried a good deal about its boy gangs, its tough "hangouts," and its petty infractions of law and order by juvenile offenders. But some sensible people in Alpena studied the boy and determined his needs. Now they have their boys so busy learning crafts, enjoying sports and hobbies that they have no time for mischief. A boys' club turned the trick.

Judge Fred F. Smith, who has had a lot of experience with juvenile cases, made a speech the other day in which he told how they had turned the attention of the boys from mischief to employments worth while. He said, "Juvenile delinquency is almost all in Alpena. Few boys now are brought into juvenile court. Our police have very little trouble with the youngsters and skipping school and the petty troubles formerly engaging the attention of the truant officers have about ceased. The chief factor in bringing about the change is the Alpena Boys' Club."

Alpena has learned a truth which also has been discovered in some other communities, that a bad boy usually is a potential good boy looking for something interesting to do.—Detroit News.

HOPES TO PHOTOGRAPH FOXES

A motion picture reel depicting logging operations in Michigan woods is completed, reports Walter Hastings, staff photographer of the conservation department. Hastings will now devote his time to the completion of a three reel picture illustrating much of the animal life of this State. Hastings says that he has located a fox den and is employing his ingenuity to overcome the native shyness of mother fox and her seven pups, to the point where they will pose and be unafraid in the presence of the buzzing film as it flickers across the lens of his motion picture camera. Knowing of Hastings' successes in obtaining pictures of Michigan wild life, we are looking forward to viewing the crafty red fox on the screen.

PLANT TREES

Of the thousands of land owners throughout the state only 127 this spring realized that by planting trees on their property it would be made enjoyable as a place of habitation, more profitable to sell and that ultimately a certain financial yield in forest production would result.

Orders for nursery stock should be entered as soon as possible for fall shipment. Any information desired on costs, proper kinds of trees to plant, etc., can be secured from the department of conservation, Lansing.

NEW FISHING LAW EFFECTIVE AUGUST 28

The new inland fishing bill effective August 28, 1932, provided that all non-residents over 18 years of age must have a license for taking all kinds of fish, the fee for which is three dollars per year; also that all residents over 18 years of age are required to procure a license to catch trout, the annual fee being one dollar. These provisions will not be enforced, however, until the season of 1930, in view of the fact that the season is nearly at an end when the act becomes effective.

The moon "shines" because of the reflection of the sun upon it. However, we can sometimes see the complete circle of the moon even though the face of that body is not directly in the sun's light. This is because the reflection of the sun on the earth is bright enough to make it visible to us.

POULTRY FACTS

CLEAN AND SPRAY TO CONTROL LICE

Preventive Measures Should Be Taken Before Summer.

Surveys, made by the poultry department of the North Carolina State college, show that more than 53 per cent of all poultry flocks in North Carolina are infested with either lice or mites.

"These pests multiply very quickly during the hot months and for that reason control measures should be taken before the summer sets in," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the department. "The henhouse should be given a thorough cleaning with a 4 per cent coal tar dip. All cracks and crevices should be sprayed and the perches painted with a pure dip or creosote. New scratch litter and nesting material should be put in before the hens are allowed to use the house, if these precautions are not taken, the sitting hen will be killed and the small chicks will weaken and die."

The adult fowl should be dusted with sodium fluoride. This should be used sparingly as there is some danger of injuring the skin. A pinch of the material should be held between the thumb and finger and worked among the feathers. This operation should be continued until the entire body has been covered, and should be repeated in five days if all the lice were not killed.

All brooder houses, henhouses or any place that the chickens roost should be gone over with the 4 per cent solution of coal tar and where possible the hens transferred to another house during the cleaning.

Doctor Kaupp recommends that new houses be built, especially where the old houses have been in use over a long period and are thoroughly infested with the pests. The old houses should then be torn down and burned, he says.

More Hopper Space for Feeding Fowls Is Urged

To enable all the hens to obtain plenty of laying mash it pays to allow ten feet of hopper feeding space to each 100 hens. A five-foot trough hopper open on both sides gives good satisfaction. These open hoppers built up on a little platform to keep out the straw litter are proving more popular than wall hoppers, and some poultrymen are tearing out their wall hoppers and installing the long open boxes. Then the mash does not clog and is plainly visible to the hens. If the wall hoppers remain they can be used as a reserve supply and mash taken from them and added to the open hoppers as the supply needs replenishment.

Eliminate Tuberculosis From Chicken Quarters

Fortunately with poultry the disease is not difficult to control. It should be remembered that the disease is confined to very old birds. Birds under a year old are seldom infected. By maintaining a flock in which the number of old birds has been kept at a low figure the danger of infection is reduced. If, however, the premises are badly infected the house and yards should be given a rest for two years. The house can be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, and then be used, but to eliminate tuberculosis from the yards the resting of the yards is necessary. During the resting of the yards their cultivation is desirable.

Actions of Guineaes

A guinea will usually build her nest in the edge of a briar patch or under a clump of weeds, and while on the nest will cackle a soft and long cackle similar to the male bird, but not so loud. The male bird often stands near the nest and cackles while the hen is on the nest. When the hen gets a large nestful of eggs, she will get broody and go to sitting on them. If she is not broken up. When she goes to sitting she rises and flies from her nest when she comes off.

Direct Sunlight Best

Direct sunlight promotes health and egg production. Sunlight through ordinary window glass is ineffective. Only direct sunlight or sunlight which passes through special glass or glass substitutes, which will permit the ultra-violet rays to pass through, is beneficial.

Direct sunlight or its equivalent aids in maintenance of health, reduces mortality, increases egg production and improves hatchability and quality of eggs, especially egg-shell texture.

Feeds for Poultry

For poultry feeding, the right kind of protein is generally obtained from milk, skim milk, buttermilk, whey, fresh meat, meat scraps, fish scraps, tank age, or alfalfa leaf meal feeds. Very little of it is found in the common farm feeds, and for this reason when home-grown grains are used, it is necessary to purchase small amounts of the high protein feeds to supplement the home-grown grains. Milk of any kind is the most popular protein feed for poultry.

Porcupine Shown to Be Much Malignant Animal

One of the most unconcerned denizens of the woods and one about which has been woven many a fantastic tale is the porcupine.

It is the marksmen of the forest, as the story goes—the bowman that shoots barbed arrows at those it sees fit to attack. One in imagination can almost see a cloud of quills winging their way toward some enemy, ready to pierce any unprotected skin and, once beneath the skin, presenting the problem of the fish-hook imbedded in a luckless angler's finger. It has the reputation of being the enemy of the two-gun man, swaggering around, scowling at any luckless person who chances to get in the way.

If ever a more unfair picture of the character of an animal has been painted, it is a grave injustice, has been done. The porcupine, as a matter of fact, is mostly intent on minding its own business and hopes that other animals will do the same. It is not particularly afraid of any others, knowing, as the skunk does, that it will not be attacked by any but the very young, and the very young soon learn that a good defense is a wonderful offense, reversing the usual strategy.

Printers Absolved of Charge of Irreverence

An average layman, fairly familiar with his Bible, hastily opened the Good Book to verify the statement of the Literary Digest's lexicographer that in the Scriptures the personal pronoun representing our Lord did not begin with a capital letter. To his surprise, the learned doctor was right. And if the reader turned back to the Old Testament, he discovered also that the pronouns referring to God were in the same style. The reason for this, the lexicographer explains, is that early-day printshops had inadequate upper cases (capitals) and that the rule was invoked, not because of a lack of reverence, but of necessity. So far as we know, Bible publishers are the only printers who have remained true to this tradition. Certainly there are few, if any, newspapers that do not use the upper case first letter in a pronoun referring to Christ or God.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

This Frank Decade

Mary Elizabeth has just started to dancing school and on the occasion of her second or third lesson her mother, sitting by as an interested spectator, was glad to see that she and her boy partner seemed to be holding a conversation. "What were you and Jimmie talking about?" she asked when the little girl joined her after the dance. "Oh, just talking," evaded the youngster. "Well, what did Jimmie say," persisted the mother. "He said, 'Gee, you're a rotten dancer,'" revealed Mary Elizabeth. "Oh!" cried the stricken parent, thinking her daughter would be offended. "What did you say to that, honey?" "I said," replied the child, calmly, "'Say, you're not so good yourself.'"

Catfish Peculiar

Catfishes are called catfishes because they have feelers on the head, like cats' "smellers." They have no scales, their bodies being naked and smooth, or mottled with long plates. The different species vary in size from dwarfs two inches long to six feet long. The stone-cuts and the mud-toms, seldom more than three inches long, sting painfully, but not dangerously. Only a few fossil catfishes have been found. The present scaleless members of the group evidently come from scaly ancestors. The peculiarities that distinguish them are caused by specialization of some parts and by degeneration of other parts.

Swedes Made History

Sweden's international relations were kept alive by the contact between the home country and Swedish emigrants and settlers abroad. Thus in the year 375 Swedes penetrated as far south as the Black sea and founded an Austro-Gothian dominion. Others settled on the British islands and in Normandy. Headed by the great statesman and warrior, Rurik, one group went east across the Baltic and founded the empire of Russia, named after the coast district of Roslagen, near Stockholm, whence came its founders.

Old American College

Dartmouth college at Hanover, N. H., is an outgrowth of a school founded at Lebanon, Conn., by Eleazar Wheelock for the Christian education of Indian youth. Funds raised in England and contributed largely by Lord Dartmouth enabled Wheelock to move 150 miles to the Hanover plain, five miles north of the junction of the Connecticut and White rivers, and so allowed him to enlarge the scope of his work. The province of New Hampshire gave a charter to the new Dartmouth college in 1769.

History of the Diamond

India was the original home of the diamond as a jewel. For centuries India remained the sole source of Europe's diamond supply. About 1730 diamonds were discovered in Brazil. In 1867 diamonds were discovered in South Africa. South African diamonds constitute more than 90 per cent of the world's supply. From their discovery to the present time they have yielded 90,000,000 carats. The diamonds of the world probably represent a value of $5,000,000,000.

Taking Things Calmly

Remember, it is not he who revells you or strikes you who insults you, but it is your opinion about these things as being insulting. When, then, a man irritates you, you must know that it is your own opinion which has irritated you. Therefore, especially try not to be carried away by the appearance. For if you once gain time and delay, you will more easily master yourself.—Epictetus.

MAN WAS TRYING TO FLY BEFORE CHRIST

Experiments With Querer Devices in Ancient Times.

New York.—Although authenticated records show that man first rode the air successfully only 140 years ago, aviation as an idea is at least 2,500 years old.

Indications are that men were experimenting with fantastic devices for the conquest of the air long before the birth of Christ, according to a compilation of ancient chronicles made by the Golden Book.

Although the narrated flight of Archytas of Tarentum in 400 B. C., recorded by Celsus, is regarded largely as a flight of imagination, it is accepted as an indication that even then men were attempting seriously to imitate the birds.

"Many men of eminence among the Greeks, and Pavorinus the philosopher," says Gellius, "have in a most laudable manner assured us that the model of a dove or pigeon, formed in wood by Archytas, was so contrived as by a certain mechanical art and power to fly, so nicely was it balanced by weights and put in motion by hidden and enclosed air."

Da Vinci's Plan Scientific

Orlvi's story of the fall of Icarus shows that the ambition was still alive in the First century of the Christian era, as does other mention of man-made wings and ships modeled after birds.

At about the time that Columbus discovered America, Leonardo da Vinci gave his famous and scientifically sound plan for a flying machine. "A bird is an instrument working according to mathematical law, an instrument which it is within the capacity of man to reproduce with all its movements, though not with a corresponding degree of strength, for it is deficient in the power of maintaining equilibrium," he said. "To attain to the true science of the movement of birds in the air, it is necessary to give first the science of the winds. Unless the movement of the wing is swifter than the movement of the air so pressed, the air will not become condensed and the bird will not support itself."

But even before Leonardo, Roger Bacon in the Thirteenth century conceived the idea of an artificial bird—an idea which is the subject of experimentation even today. The Golden Book article points out. Bacon set forth that "an instrument may be made to fly withal if one sit in the midst of the instrument, and do turn an engine, by which the wings, being artificially composed, may beat the air after the manner of the flying bird." The compilation also contains firsthand accounts of the two ascensions by which the Montgolfier brothers and Pilatre de Rozier proved the practicality of the first hot-air balloons in 1783.

First Successful Flight

On June 5 of that year at Annonay, France, the Montgolfiers sent up their first balloon, a bag 110 feet in circumference and weighing 300 pounds. Without a passenger, it shot up to a height of 6,000 feet in ten minutes, and traveled a mile and a half before it descended gently to earth.

On October 15 of the same year, in another machine built by the Montgolfiers, de Rozier rode the air for the first time successfully, stoking the fire which heated the air within the gas bag with straw and wool.

"After a few trials close to the ground, he desired to ascend to a great height," says the account. "The machine was accordingly permitted to rise, and ascend as high as the ropes, which were placed there purposely to detain it, would allow, which was about 84 feet. There M. de Rozier kept the machine aloft four minutes and twenty-five seconds by throwing straw and wool into the grate to keep up the fire. Then the machine descended exceedingly gently."

Fish Liars Club Now

Waterloo, N. Y.—Prompted by a real need, the Liars club of Waterloo now issues a liar's license.

It all started when W. Fred Bacon, an attorney, returned from Florida with a story, accompanied by photographs, of catching 59 fish totaling 800 pounds in a single day. He was immediately awarded a card of honor by the Liars club.

But the lying became so rampant that the executive committee decided to issue a card permitting its members to falsify. The card allows recklessness with the truth in all matters pertaining to fish or fishing for the current season. The grand seal of Ananias is affixed to the document.

Link Ancient Egypt

China in Snake Rites

Stockholm.—Belief that the Chinese during the Stone age had the same kind of snake worship as the inhabitants of Egypt, Mesopotamia, Persia and Russian Turkestan, was expressed by Prof. J. G. Anderson, Sweden's foremost expert on Chinese archeology. Professor Anderson based his belief on the discovery of the cover of a Chinese grave urn made during the Stone age in China.

Around the head of the figure of the urn, and down the man's back, Professor Anderson found twined, a plaited braid of snakes corresponding almost exactly to snake designs found on Stone age objects discovered in northern Africa and in the Near East.

MOWING MACHINES REVEAL PHEASANT NESTS

At this season a number of nests of the ringneck pheasant are being exposed by mowing machines, and at times the setting hen pheasant is killed. As a rule the farmer takes such sets of eggs and re-sets them under one of his hens. This is proper and in the interest of conservation, but when sets of eggs are taken under these conditions, the fact should be reported to the local conservation officer so that the possession may be entered in the records of the conservation department, and in order to avoid a technical violation of the game laws. As there is no provision for acquiring captive game bird stock from the wild, birds reared from such eggs must be released later in the season when they have reached maturity.

SAFETY-PREVENTION CAMPAIGN

Michigan's second annual safety-prevention campaign comes to a close on June 30.

Right now it is estimated that nearly one-half of the motor vehicles in the state are minus inspection certificates.

The inspection is free. Only necessary repairs must be paid for by motor car owners.

This is not a compulsory examination—but at the end of the campaign a rigid check will be made and prosecution follow for all whose cars do not conform to the safety regulations of the Michigan motor laws.

You still have time to get your badge of good citizenship. Why should you need to be either urged or admonished.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

The Probate Court for the County of Crawford.

At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the Village of Grayling in said County, on the 17th day of June, A. D. 1932.

Present, Hon. George Sorenson, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Jno. R. Williams, deceased. Dorothea E. ## CAUGHT BASS WEEK TOO SOON

The best law enforcing agency is public sentiment. A week before the bass and panfish season opened on June 10th, a district conservation officer in civilian clothes happened to be standing in a crowd of some forty people, watching several pick fishermen plying the rod in the Edenville pond in Midland county. One of the fishermen reeled in a four pound bass. Before he had time to decide to keep the fish, he had been so inclined, he was greeted with shouted advice to "put it back," "tie it up for a week," "you're one week early buddy," "write your name on it and come back next Sunday," etc.

Public sentiment in this instance put its foot down solidly and without a moment's hesitation on the taking of a game fish before the legal open season.

Mrs. Adelbert Adelson and son who have been visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Mortenson for the past month left for her home in Saginaw yesterday.

Tuesday evening, June 19th, the members of the senior class gathered at the home of Mr. Bradley to surprise him. The evening was enjoyably spent and after light refreshments were served, Mr. Bradley was presented with a ring and Miss Annin, a bracelet as a token of respect and esteem in which they were held by the class.

The reception given in honor of the seniors, by the pupils of the high school, was indeed a success from the beginning to the end. The hall was artistically decorated with green and white bunting, the class colors, and white carnations. The music, which lasted the entire evening was a very pleasing feature, and the refreshments served by the girls of the high school was enjoyed by all.

Axel Becker, who has been engaged in the bank here, since its present organization has moved to Johannesburg, where he will open a bank this week, "The Bank of Johannesburg," as cashier for the Johannesburg Real Estate Co., (Inc.) He will have as finely furnished quarters as any bank in the state, in Michelson's brick block, and while we regret his leaving here we wish him all the success he hopes for. He will be in our "2d ward" anyway.

Katherine Bates entertained the class of '06 at her home Tuesday evening, June 26. The game of fish being played. The idea was to have a set of twenty questions all answered by the names of different fish.

Edith Chamberlin receiving the prize for answering the most number of questions, and Willard Hammond receiving one for telling the best fish story. After refreshments were served the party broke up thinking it would be one of the last times the class might be together.

TYPES OF BONDS

In order to make a wise investment, it is advisable to understand the different types of bonds—just as you would learn the various makes of automobiles, washing machines, or cultivators before deciding on such a purchase.

There are hundreds of different types of bonds. Merely to list them would fill this column. But the average investor need not bother about the majority of them. It is the purpose of this article to classify bonds into important divisions. Future articles prepared by Straus Brothers Investment Institute will describe the most important kind of bond in each division.

Bonds may be classified according to (1) the character of the issuing corporation, (2) the character of the security for the bonds, (3) the purpose of the issue, (4) the conditions attending payment of principal or interest.

The Character of the Issuer.—Bonds under this classification are either Civil or Corporation loans. Government and Municipal bonds are the best known Civil obligations. Transportation bonds, Public Service bonds, Industrial bonds, and Real Estate bonds are the most common coming under the classification of Corporation loans.

The Security for Bonds.—There are two types under this head: Simple obligations and Re-secured obligations. Simple obligations are unsecured by guarantee or by pledge of specific property. Such bonds are called Notes, or Debentures.

Re-secured obligations are backed by a guarantee or by a lien on property. Coming under this head are Guaranteed bonds, First Mortgage bonds, Collateral Trust bonds, Equipment bonds, etc.

The Purpose of the Issue.—Bonds in this class usually explain their purpose in the title of the issue. For instance, Construction bonds are real estate securities issued for the purpose of putting up a building. Sewer bonds are Municipal bonds issued for the purpose of installing sewers. Refunding bonds are brought out to pay off previously issued securities falling due. Conditions Attending Payment of Interest or Principal.—Coupon and Registered bonds are the outstanding ones classified from the standpoint of interest payment. Bonds classified according to payment of principal are known as Premium bonds, Gold bonds, Currency bonds, etc. Bonds classified according to maturity of principal are known as Serial bonds, Long Term bonds, Short Term bonds, etc.

NOBLE AND BENNETT CLOSE BANK AT ALBA

The Alba Bank of Noble & Bennett closed its doors Thursday morning, and a receiver has been appointed to dissolve the partnership and liquidate the affairs of the institution. The collapse is due to the potato situation the past year, and to money loaned for the purchase of machinery and other improvements to farmers in the Alba section. These notes were sold to other banks, and could not be taken up at their maturity on account of the low prices on potatoes. These notes will without doubt be all taken up this year, but the bank meanwhile has been forced out of business.

A meeting of the interested banks was held at Alba last evening, and as stated above, a receiver will be appointed tomorrow.

A state bank is already planned for Alba to replace the private bank and our sister village will not long be without a banking institution.

R. C. Bennett, it is stated, will remain at Alba. He has been a power for progress in Antrim county and many a farmer who started with nothing and now has a well equipped farm, tells with tears in his eyes how Mr. Bennett helped him get his start.

"Too many eggs in one basket" is given as the cause of the trouble. Every farmer is well worth the amount of his note given for the machinery, it is stated but the lack of a market for potatoes on which the principal dependence was made, finds each of them without the ready cash to pay for his latest improvements. Another reason if all goes well will see the notes paid, and each farmer with his lesson learned in regard to pinning his faith mostly on one crop.—Mancelona Herald.

TURNING THE SPOTLIGHT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT

"Well, Joe, I suppose you are going to the unveiling of the War Memorial statue in the square tonight."

"I wouldn't miss it, Burt. I understand the head of the village board will make a speech. You know, we have a fine public-spirited group of men running this town. A splendid, clean government."

"Of course we have! Do you think the weekly would stand for a village government that wasn't aboveboard? That is another thing I like about our paper. It has never taken a narrow view-point. It supports any clean group that is in office, and that is why we have been blessed with good government."

"Yes, George Stone will support any worth-while measure for the good of the town, no matter which side advocates it. But let an unscrupulous bunch get in office! It wouldn't be long until the spotlight of publicity would be turned on them, and they would be run out of office."

"I think you could not find a better example of a model town anywhere in the state—mainly due to the unselfish efforts of the newspaper."

Two men are setting out to row a boat from Boston to St. John. Isn't it curious how men who don't have to work like to do it?—Toronto Star.

Tweed Sports Dress

A striking sports dress is this two-piece costume of beige with pattern of king's blue woven into the material. The skirt is plaited and the severely plain jumper shows a V neckline. A handkerchief scarf, showing shades of beige and blue, trims the frock, and low-heeled oxfords, showing a tongue trimming, complete the costume.

NOW THE AIRPLANE TELEPHONE

By Edwin Greer
(President Greer College, Chicago, Ill.)

In 1908, when Marconi was still trying to convince a skeptical world that his apparatus could actually project word signals through the air, no one would believe him.

Last month a newspaper reporter had a good story, "I'm all up in the air about it," he told his city editor over the telephone. And he really was up in the air—2000 feet, participating in the first two-way communication between the air and the earth. He heard and was heard just as if he had been in an ordinary telephone booth on the ground. The transmission was clear and was affected in the ordinary way.

The reporter put in his call, the number being repeated by the operator, and the connection then being established. He then gave his story to one of the rewrite men at the desk.

All this sounds so commonplace, but that successful experiment opened a new field for radio-telephony. Within a short time, it was predicted, it will be possible for the passenger of a plane enroute to Washington, for instance, to put in a call for his office or his home, and deliver a message just as if it were an ordinary long-distance call, and vice versa.

The sending set making possible this aerial transmission is small and compact, weighing only seven pounds, and is far more sensitive than sets used in former experiments. It is operated from a generator driven by a small propeller or one of the airplane's struts.

The reporter, sitting a few feet behind the motor, wore an ordinary headpiece and spoke into a microphone equipped with a rubber fringe. This fringe deadened the sound of the engine so much that the person talking at the other end was only aware of a slight rumble in the background.

"I am sending you this story," spoke the reporter, "from a plane in flight. We are up 2,500 feet and climbing steadily. Outside the window I can see the small generator which is transmitting this message. Our speed is 120 miles an hour, and we are over a small town in which the houses look like those blocks that children play with." And much more.

STATE BUYS LANDS FOR PARKS

At the request of the conservation commission the State Administrative board released funds subject to the approval of the budget director for the purchase of the following areas of lands:

5080 acres in Cheboygan county. This land lies within the Otsego game refuge and adjacent to the Pigeon River state forest. The Otsego refuge was established in 1924, chiefly on leased lands. The leases have expired, the lands have been on the market, but at prices which the Department considered prohibitive. The prices at which these lands are now offered, $3.75 per acre, is the same as that recently paid for similar lands in the same vicinity.

336 acres in Oscoda county. 225 acres of sandy soil and the balance in swamp, 233 acres of the total is covered by good second growth, about equally divided in uplands and lowlands. This tract, which is to be purchased at approximately $3.00 per acre, is to be added to the AuSable State forest.

640 acres in Crawford county. Interior holdings in the AuSable state forest. Priced at approximately $1.56 per acre.

815 acres in Cheboygan and Presque Isle counties. Interior holdings in the Black Lake state forest. Some 200 acres in good cut-over pine lands, the balance in lands which originally grew hardwoods, hemlock and pine. This area is priced at slightly less than $2.00 per acre.

280 acres in Kalkaska county. This area adjoins the north addition to the Fife Lake state forest. The majority of this is sandy cut-over pine lands and contains a medium second growth of the usual poplar, oak, and maple up to thirty or forty feet in height. Priced at approximately $2.25 per acre.

One thing that it doesn't seem to pay to sell second handed is Uncle Sam's postage stamps.

The New Pontiac Big Six has been called the "step-up" car because it enables forward-looking people to step up in motor car quality without leaving the low-priced field. ### INTEREST IN EAST MICHIGAN AS MECCA FOR TOURIST CONTINUED

(By E. M. T. Service)

Inquiries continue to pour into the office of the East Michigan Tourist association. Some mails contain as many as 100. The inquiries come from virtually every state in the union and the lists as compiled and relayed to members of the association carry names representing an average of from 15 to 25 different states.

Never before was there so much interest manifested in East Michigan as a vacationland. If the weather is at all normal this season officials of the East Michigan Tourist association expect to see all East Michigan resorts tested to their capacity.

Inquiries came by mail, wire, telephone and personal call. During the past week seven girls have been employed in the office of the East Michigan Tourist association mailing literature and answering inquiries.

EXPERIMENTING WITH PHEASANTS

Since there has been much debate as to the character of the cover and snow conditions essential for pheasants, Governor Green has requested that an experiment in the rearing and releasing of "ringnecks" be made on the Ogemaw game refuge. This refuge is located in typical deer country—poplar, oak, jackpine, and cedar swamp. An attempt will be made to obtain conclusive information on the practicability of pheasant rearing and planting in this territory. Two colonies of birds will be established, about five miles apart. The birds will be banded and released early in the fall. During the winter one group will be supplied with feed and sheltered feeding stations; the other will be left to adapt themselves to natural conditions without artificial aid. At intervals the birds will be trapped at the feeding stations and the bands examined to determine if the unaided group has moved from the region where they were released, etc., and further information relative to the number and condition of the two groups of pheasants will be gathered during that season.

The trouble about most fellows playing the stock market is that they are bears when they ought to be bulls and bulls when they ought to be bearish.

Feeling Better Than in Years; Praises Konjola

Man Feared There Was Nothing To Help Him—Then Konjola Triumphed

Indorsements without number prove that Konjola, the new and different medicine, conquers the obstinate cases; those that have held on for years with bulldog-like tenacity. Read what Mr. Ernest Guenther, R.F.D. No. 5, Ann Arbor, says of this master medicine.

"I cannot find words to express my gratitude and surprise for what Konjola did in relieving me from the agonies of kidney and stomach trouble and neuritis. I was nervous, irritable and despondent. Not one of the many medicines and treatments I tried did me a particle of good. And then I heard of Konjola, the master medicine of them all. Konjola went to work at once, and improvement began in a few days. In two weeks I was a well man again, thanks to this glorious medicine."

Thus Konjola works, quickly and thoroughly, bringing lasting relief, no matter what else has failed. Konjola is sold in Grayling at the Mac & Gidley drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars. In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

VISITS CHINA

about seeing in Manila some months ago. After the ride we returned to the boat. We could have spent days in Hong Kong but there are supposed to be many more interesting sights farther north. Hong Kong was very pretty all lighted up. The whole side of the hill was filled with points of lights here and there. Street lights outlined the whole ridge of the island. We stayed up till it all faded out and hoped for calm weather.

The trip to Hong Kong was terrible. All four of us were sick and the children couldn't understand why they were not feeling well. The ship rolled and pitched and tossed. I knew it would and between now and when I arrive in New York, I only have about 60 days on the water, any one or more of which may be just as rough or rougher. I'm a good sailor—in calm weather.

Since we have left Hong Kong there is a little sea but not enough yet to bother me. We will arrive in Shanghai Friday morning and leave Monday morning. Two long shopping days. One day for sightseeing and three nights to find out if Shanghai could have life as exaggerated. I wish I could have you here with me, for you know there is an old Chinese proverb that reads, "Once seeing is worth twice telling."

May 15th.

I thought of you many times last Sunday (Mother's Day) and nearly sent you a cable, but as it would cost $22.00 gold, I decided to let my letter be enough and bring you a nice present for the money.

At present we are on the inland sea of Japan. Countless islands of different sizes are on all sides of us. It is supposed to be a very pretty trip but today it is foggy and very cold so I am inside writing instead of freezing on the deck. Also Betty has a hard cold and I am looking after the children.

About four in the afternoon we entered the Whangpo river and sailed for about twelve miles, having a good view of the country. However, with the exception of one pagoda, I might have thought myself in the states as there was nothing Chinese in the picture. About six we docked and as soon as dinner was over, we rushed out for our first view of Shanghai. They had already started to unload the ship and the dock was a swarm of coolies, carrying away the cargo. A pair of them would shuffle along with the load suspended from a pole over their shoulders, chanting a peculiar song. It was interesting at first but after four days of the chant, we were glad to get away.

At this point let me tell you about the money difficulty. The value of the Mexican dollar varies from day to day, but as I told you we obtained a very high rate. The Mexican dollar is divided as ours into cents but the small coins of 20, 10, 5 and 1 cent are called small money. Paper money is issued in bills from 10 cents up and is called big money as is also the silver dollar. The copper penny is worth only about a third of a cent. Big money is worth face value Mex., and small money is not worth its face. So whenever you buy anything you get change in big money.

While in port we live on the boat, so we try to have all our meals there. In the afternoon we went down into the city to a linen shop called Elbos. They had a wonderful stock of linens and as there were a number of things Betty had on her list, there were a number of things purchased. Her main purchase was a three by three and a half banquet cloth, cutwork and point Venice lace inlays and edging with a dozen large napkins to match. It is really wonderful. She also purchased some other linens as towels, pillow cases, etc., and the rest of our party also purchased a lot of linens. While we were still there Ethel Dunlop from Corregidor came in. I think I have told you about her before, at least you have seen her picture, for she posed for that Red Cross poster "The Greatest Mother Of All." She and Betty Silkman had come up to China ten days before. She said she would shop with us the next day. Well the next morning the stewardess was busy so I took care of the children and Betty and Ethel went to a store away out in what is called the French Concession to a shop called Pais, also famous for linens. ### Congress Recedes, the Farm Aid and Reapportionment Measures Are Signed.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

WITH the farm aid bill signed by President Hoover and $151,500,000 appropriated to begin putting its provisions into operation, and the reapportionment measure also made law by the President's signature, congress adjourned for the summer in the middle of the week. The senate recessed until August 19, when it will reassemble to begin debate on the tariff bill which its finance committee is expected to have completed by that date. The recess of the lower house is to extend until September 28, and between that day and October 14 it intends to hold only perfunctory sessions twice a week on the supposition that the senate will not have passed the tariff measure before the latter date.

Senator Borah of Idaho made a strong fight to have the tariff revision confined to agricultural and directly related commodities and in the course of a heated debate asserted that his resolution to that effect was in accord with the President's views and the majority of the regular Republicans and seven Democrats, however, stood firm for more general revision and succeeded in beating the resolution by the narrow margin of one, the vote being 88 to 89.

JUST before recessing congress gave its approval to President Hoover's recommendation that France be relieved of the necessity of paying the $400,000,000 due August 1 for the surplus war supplies it purchased after the close of the war, on the condition that the Mellon-Berenger debt funding agreement be ratified before that date by the French parliament. Under the terms of that accord the sum mentioned is absorbed as part of the entire French debt which is funded over a period of sixty-two years. The arrangement was attacked in both houses. The senate adopted a separate resolution on motion of Senator Howell of Nebraska declaring that in effect the United States under the Mellon-Berenger agreement canceled the entire $420,777,000 of the principal and accumulated interest up to 1925 of the French debt. The payments to be made by the French government over a period of sixty-two years are merely the equivalent of annual interest payments of 2.17 per cent on the original sum, the resolution declares.

As the matter now stands, if either the French parliament or the American congress fails to ratify the Mellon-Berenger agreement, France must pay the $400,000,000 on May 1 next.

TRANSFER of prohibition enforcement activities to the Department of Justice has been indefinitely postponed. Senator Jones introduced a resolution for the appointment of a joint committee to study reorganization and centralization of dry enforcement, as asked by the President, but the anti-Volstead senators, aroused by the repeated killings by enforcement officers, started such a hot debate, demanding that the shootings also be investigated, that the administration leaders had the resolution withdrawn until August 10, when it was promulgated a vote would be taken.

Citizens of International Falls, Minn., where Henry Virkula, an apparently innocent man, was killed by enforcement agents, appealed directly to the President for protection. He did not reply immediately, so the city council of the place sent a telegram to him to the same effect. Then, at the White House press conference, Mr. Hoover gave out this formal statement:

"I deeply deplore the killing of any person. The Treasury department is making every effort to prevent the misuse of arms. Any case of misuse will be determined by the orderly proceedings of the department and the courts. I hope that the communities along the border will do their best to help the treasury and the systematic work that is being carried on by international criminals against the laws of the United States. It is these activities that are the root of all of our difficulties."

Mayors of Detroit, Wyandotte, River Rouge, Trenton and other towns and cities of Michigan close to the Canadian border responded with pledges of wholehearted co-operation with the federal authorities if a sane enforcement is adopted. That the rum runners up that way are encouraged by the attacks on the enforcers was shown when the crew of a well-known liquor smuggling boat opened fire on a customs patrol speed boat near Detroit, smashing its bow and windshield and damaging its machinery. Officials of the Province of Ontario announced that they would try to reduce the peril of border gun fights by disarming the occupants of all boats leaving lake and river ports.

WHEN Oscar De Priest, colored, was sent to congress by a colored Chicago district everyone knew trouble was likely to result. It has come, and is likely to stay for some time. In the house Mr. De Priest had conducted himself in a manner that cannot be criticized, but the presence of himself and his family in Washington has brought on social complications. Mrs. Hoover recently entertained several congressional women in the White House, and among her guests was Mrs. De Priest. Of course the South rose in immediate and loud protest, and the action of the First Lady has been attacked as unseemly and unwise by southern legislators, officials and individuals. The implications of the affair are more than social, for the administration is receiving numerous warnings of a renewed solid Democratic South, these coming especially from those states below the Mason and Dixon line which were carried by Hoover.

VIRGINIA'S anti-Tammany Democrats, who, being bone dry, were opposed to Al Smith, consolidated themselves in a state convention in Roanoke which was dominated by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church south. The 800 delegates nominated Prof. William M. Brown of Washington and Lee university for governor and O. C. Berkeley for attorney general. The executive committee was authorized to select a candidate for lieutenant general, and may name either J. H. Price, the regular Democratic nominee, or the man to be picked by the Republican convention. The De Priest incident cropped up here, too. I. C. Trotman bolted the convention when it rejected a platform plank he offered denouncing Mrs. Hoover's action in entertaining the Negro woman.

AMBASSADOR DAWES and Prime Minister MacDonald between them gave a great boost last week to the cause of reduction of naval armament and consequently of world peace. Their speeches, the one at the dinner of the Pilgrims' society in London and the other at Loughborough, Scotland, had been awaited with intense interest and neither of them was a disappointment. General Dawes declared that naval reduction was the problem of outstanding importance to the world at the present time, and he discussed the methods whereby it might be brought about. He said it must concern all naval powers and should have world sanction. The final negotiations, he asserted, must be carried on by statesmen rather than by naval experts, from whom he personally would expect a failure to agree. Said the ambassador:

"It would seem that to adjust to human nature the method of arriving at naval reduction each government might separately obtain from its respective naval experts their definition of the yardstick and then the inevitable compromise between these differing definitions, which would be expressed in a final fixation of the technical yardstick, should be made by a committee of statesmen of the nations, re-enforced from the beginning by these separate expressions of abstract technical naval opinion and able again to seek further naval advice if necessary before the final fixation."

"These statesmen should further be the ones to draw up for the world the terms of the final agreement upon naval reduction which should be couched in those simple terms understandable to the ordinary man in the street and which, while the pet aversion of the casuist, are the highest expression of true statesmanship. That final agreement covering quantitative dispositions would go to the nations for approval or rejection."

Mr. MacDonald told of his conversation with General Dawes and expressed his sincere belief that they might be instrumental "in preparing a board around which other nations might ultimately sit in co-operative fellowship studying the arts and the ways of peace."

LOTTI, Assolant and Lefevre, the French aviators who flew across the Atlantic from Old Orchard, Maine, are being accorded all due honors in their home land, for they made a great flight notwithstanding the fact that they landed first on the coast of Spain instead of Le Bourget. This was made necessary by the unexpected presence in their plane of one Schreiber, a brash American youth who stowed away on the Yellow Bird and whose added weight made the take off difficult and prematurely exhausted the supply of fuel. Displaying accurately the intelligence of a seven-year-old child, Schreiber did not realize that he was endangering the lives of the aviators and imperiling the success of their flight. The three Frenchmen treated him with the greatest forbearance and admitted he had nerve. But it is good to read that he was almost completely ignored in Paris and all right minded people hope that that will be his fate on his return to the United States. Mr. Lotti made the youth sign an agreement that half of any money he might receive as a result of his foolhardy exploit should be given to Assolant and Lefevre, the pilots, and to a fund for victims of air accidents.

Seven persons lost their lives when the City of Ottawa, huge air liner of the Imperial Airways on her way from England to Paris, with eleven passengers fell in the English channel three miles from the English shore. The main shaft of one of the two motors broke and the pilot was unable to keep the plane up or to land safely. Four passengers and the pilot and mechanic were rescued.

COLONEL and Mrs. Lindbergh emerged from their honeymoon seclusion aboard a power boat on Wednesday, appearing at Mitchell field, New York, to take part in the first tests in the prize competition held by the Guggenheim fund in the hope of discovering an absolutely safe airplane. Lindy put on a helmet and parachute and took up the first entry, after which he gave Mrs. Lindbergh a ride in a fast army plane.

ALL the troubles of Gen. Bramwell Booth, former commander in chief of the Salvation Army, came to an end when he died at his home in London. He was given a great funeral by the army whose council had deposed him recently, and its flags were kept flying high for as its officials said: "General Booth is not dead—he has passed to glory." Others taken by death were Ann F. Potter, well-known capitalist of Boston; Sir A. Maurice Low, for many years American correspondent of London papers, and S. F. Kingston, veteran general manager for Florence Ziegfeld.
